

Tennessee Journalist

The news website of the School of Journalism and Electronic Media | University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Home | News | Sports | Sci/Tech | Opinion | Arts and Culture

HOME >> ARTS AND CULTURE >> GREENSKY BLUEGRASS EXCITED TO OPEN FOR RAILROAD EARTH IN KNOXVILLE

Greensky Bluegrass excited to open for Railroad Earth in Knoxville

<http://www.greenskybluegrass.com/>

Winners of the 2006 Telluride Bluegrass Festival Band Competition, Michigan's own Greensky Bluegrass is earning recognition nationwide as a growing force in acoustic roots music.

By Sarah Waldrip

published: January 09 2011 06:01 AM updated:: January 09 2011 06:02 AM

There's something about bluegrass that generates its own momentum and energy in a live setting, without the need for any stage antics or flash. It's just down-home genuine, something we see less and less of these days. This classic American music that was born right here in Appalachia, and its charm isn't lost on the new generations of fans who are expanding the scope of the genre at an explosive rate.

In proper fashion, Knoxville is set to start the new year with some fantastic bluegrass, or should I say "newgrass", that has many people excited. Downtown's own Bijou Theatre will welcome Railroad Earth and Greensky Bluegrass on Thursday Jan. 13. The buzz has been growing about this show for months.

The two groups are collaborating for a three night run of shows in the Southeast this January, the first night starting in Knoxville, followed by one night each in Asheville, N.C. and Atlanta, Ga.

Railroad Earth has earned a loyal following after touring both the city and festival circuits since 2001. They are expected to attract a healthy crowd on their own, but their opening act Greensky Bluegrass is not just filler. They actually share a creative history with Railroad Earth that makes this pairing far from incidental.

We really do love playing with Railroad Earth. They are a great bunch of guys and they have really been by us along the way.

-Paul Hoffman, mandolin player for Greensky Bluegrass met them before that day. We ended up having a great time and, of course,

No strangers to playing shows together, these two bands have increasingly developed a relationship over the last several years, especially after Tim Carbone of Railroad Earth extended the relationship to the studio and assisted Greensky in recording two albums including their 2008 album Five Interstates. The result has been nothing less than successful.

Just hours before playing the 2010/2011 New Years Eve show in Colorado, Paul Hoffman, mandolin player for Greensky Bluegrass, reminisced about how it all began.

"The first time we played with Railroad Earth, we were scheduled to play a set with them at festival, and we had never

Share

- Print this story
- Email this story
- 0 Comments
- Digg this story

2

Like 8 people like this. Be the first of your friends.

Related Links

Greensky Bluegrass : Click here to see the Greensky Bluegrass website where you can read more about the band, listen to music, check tour dates and find links to other articles and reviews.

Railroad Earth : Click here to see the Railroad Earth website where you can listen to their music, check tour dates and much more.

Bijou Theatre : Click here to visit the Bijou Theatre home page where you can view event schedules and purchase tickets.

"Of course, this is bluegrass. So manic chops mean a lot to Greensky Bluegrass. Yet they are also masterful storytellers. Mandolinist Paul Hoffman in particular pens some true rural balladry."

-Seattle Weekly

RECENT HEADLINES

ARTS AND CULTURE

South Knoxville offers hidden treasures at Ijams Nature Center

NEWS

West Knox Parks Relaxing, Exciting

ARTS AND CULTURE

Explore Knoxville's haunted past

ARTS AND CULTURE

India's black tea provides more than refreshment

SPORTS

Vick's comeback leads NFL Wild Card storylines

SCITECH

Indian market values organic tea

SPORTS

Derek Dooley's Music City Bowl post-game press conference

SPORTS

Vols lose heartbreaker in Music City Bowl

SPORTS

Tennessee vs. North Carolina Music City Bowl in-game blog

SPORTS

Pick'em panel finishes season with SEC bowls

Local Coupons

1 ridiculously huge coupon a day. Get 50-90% off your city's best!

www.Groupon.com

Ads by Google

About | Archives | Contact | Courses | Staff | Search

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons 3.0 United States License
University of Tennessee School of Journalism and Electronic Media | College of Communication and Information
Knoxville, TN 37996-0333 | 865.974.5155 | tnjn@utk.edu